

Mainidea

Model the data-generating distribution by training a generative model on the original data

Publish the model along with its differentially private parameters

Anybody can generate a synthetic dataset resembling the original (training) data

With strong differential privacy protection

Main Idea

Model the data-generating distribution by training a generative model on the original data

Publish the model along with its differentially private parameters

Anybody can generate a synthetic dataset resembling the original (training) data

With strong differential privacy protection

